Already this year Lift Shop has been involved with some remarkable projects, and we're very proud of the installations that have been completed so far... with many more still in progress.

Our lifts continue to be in high demand - for both their features and style. We increasingly find that the technology and safety features are a big draw card, but of course, customers also love the customisation possibilities, which are endless. Then there's the quality, which is unbeatable - there's just nothing else quite like it, so don't be fooled.

It continues to give us great pleasure to share some of our most recently celebrated projects with you, and this month we feature

Historic Post Office

During the refurbishment of the historic General Post Office in Forrest Place, Perth the owners wanted to stay true to the 90 year old appearance of the striking sandstone building. With the 21st century surrounding the proud old building from all angles a subtle solution to the limited mobility access problem was needed. Lift Shop stepped up to the challenge and installed a P1 platform lift which seamlessly connects the old historic section of Forrest Place with the new while keeping to the integrity of the area.

What's That Hiding?

Many clients want the elevator concealed, despite its beauty. These pictures show some of the things that we can do.

Mediterranean living in Sydney's south

A love of their Greek heritage inspired the owners of a two-level apartment to recreate Mediterranean island life right at home in Sydney. Requiring private, secure access to their apartment from the lower, commercial level of the building, Lift Shop's ElfoLift was installed in powdercoated steel and milk white glass doors and includes a solid door on the lower level for added security and privacy. Servicing three stops with an adjacent through car, the lift delivers safety and convenience, while overlooking the bay and opening directly onto balconies presents a contemporary take on Greek island living.

A Sense of Light and Space

Creating a sense of light and space was key in the design of these high-spec Williamstown duplexes, and it was only achieved with the addition of a luxury Supermec in each dwelling.

Minimalist in style, but rich in features, each Supermec features polished stainless steel and clear glass doors, along with polished stainless steel, mirrored and glass walls, all blending seamlessly into the glass-sided shaft. Each cabin is finished to perfection with polished stainless steel profiles and handrails, and a continuation of sleek floor tiles from throughout the house.

Monochrome Inspiration

Taking inspiration from modern monochrome tones, this three-stop FreedomLift was customised with sleek black aluminium doors and contrasting, milk white glass.

The real impact comes from the highly polished stainless steel cabin and highlights, offset by black aluminium profiles, clear glass wall and rich timber flooring.
